1

Entity and ABN in order

Most programs require a registered Australian business with an active ABN. Check the entity type and registration details match across every document.

2

Read the guidelines first

Every grant has its own eligibility rules, eligible costs and assessment criteria. Read them before you plan the project.

3

A project you can describe

Have a clear scope, a timeline and expected outcomes. Assessors score what is on the page, so a vague plan loses points.

4

A costed budget

Break the budget into line items and separate eligible from ineligible costs. Where the grant is matched, show where your share comes from.

5

Evidence ready to attach

Gather financial statements, quotes, letters of support and any registrations early. Chasing documents is what makes people miss deadlines.

6

Time to review it

Block time for someone outside the project to read the application against the criteria before you submit.
